

Many Historical Maps Show Stream Delineations

Though Stream Channels Typically Change Position Over Time the Points of Confluence can Still Provide Control Points for Acceptable Georeferencing

Use Only if No Other Possible Control Points Exist or as an Initial Approach

Use Patterns of Features (Railroads & Stream Channels in this Example) to Verify Correct Georeferencing

-  Control Points
-  Georeference Connections
-  Verification Features
-  PA Streams (Source: PSU)